Helping schools make bigger things happen

Supporting the community.
Supporting the planet.
Supporting the next generation.

At Officeworks, we believe all young Australians should have access to a quality education. Providing the resources schools, teachers and students need to support learning is just one of the ways we help make bigger things happen for our next generation.

Our growing range of education resources provides everything students need to learn, create, connect and explore. We are committed to providing products and services that deliver value to the classroom, to schools and family budgets - while also ensuring we build sustainable practices and products which protect the planet.

At work, and as a mother of three young children, I am proud of our efforts at Officeworks to support education as well as address the educational divide in Australia. We're also taking meaningful action on climate change which will have a positive impact on our children's future.

Closing the educational divide

Through our national partnerships with The Smith Family and the Australian Literacy and Numeracy Foundation and thanks to the generous support of our customers, we help thousands of disadvantaged children every year to improve their educational outcomes through scholarships and the provision of resources.

Over 7,500 Australian students were assisted through our Wall of Hands and Back to School Appeals in the last year. We aim to support 30,000 students who need it most by 2025.

Greener Choices range

We are responding to an education sector need to make education and art supplies more sustainable. Our new Greener Choices option online and instore highlights our more sustainable products to help schools and families shop more sustainably.

Reducing waste and emissions

To help reduce landfill and emissions, we're providing our schools with new ways to recycle pens in our stores and at participating schools as a way to contribute to the circular economy. We're also phasing out problematic plastics and becoming a zero-waste business.

Last year, we planted our 1 millionth tree as part of our partnership with Restoring Australia to plant two trees for every one used to help restore our natural environment and we have committed to zero deforestation in our supply chain by 2025 and zero emissions by 2050.

The future

We know schools, families and students are conscious of social and environmental issues and we believe at Officeworks we can help drive positive change.

We are committed to making it as easy as possible for schools to make sustainable choices at the time of purchase and with programs to help support recycling.

Together, we can make bigger things happen for your school, teachers and students.

Supporting our local community

People & Planet Positive. We're working to make a difference which will create a better future for our next generation. We don't think there's anything more important. And we know it's important to you, too.

Making a positive difference — to the people we work with, and the places we live — is at the heart of everything we do. So, we're creating real change, by taking meaningful action on climate change, becoming a zero-waste business and partnering with organisations like The Australian Literacy and Numeracy Foundation, The Smith Family, and Greening Australia to make a positive difference to people and the planet.

We've set some ambitious goals and set 18 commitments in our People and Planet Positive 2025 Plan which include enhancing our contribution in our communities where we live and work, using 100% renewable energy by 2025 and helping our customers shop more sustainably.
